

Our visibility efforts in AI queries, which began in mid-December, are starting to bear fruit.

In this process, in addition to blog articles and standard SEO work, we designed two more pages specifically for AI reading.

<https://www.contractsilo.com/knowledge-base/>
<https://www.contractsilo.com/article/>

The content of these pages is created as follows: User questions and answers related to "contract management" on ChatGPT, Gemini, and Claude LLMs. We obtain this data from UberSuggest and Semrush. Then we test it on our virtual servers in Canada, the Netherlands, Germany, and Italy.

Technical updates include llms.txt, robots.txt, and schema markup (Schema.org).

In the coming period, in addition to the monthly blog articles, four pieces of content will be written for the "knowledge base" and "article" pages each month.
